Trading Sessions Of Financial Market And The Creation Of Your Own Trading Strategy.

When working on creation of your own trading strategy, don't forget to take the volatility of the currency market into your consideration. The Forex in Singapore as well as other parts of the world is working 5 days a week, 24 hours a day, which allows any trader from any part of the world to take part in the global online trading and not to miss any big opportunity to increase your funds. Every trader must understand and take into his account the timing of various trading sessions since the foreign exchange market at different periods of a day may act differently.

Each currency pair that is traded in the Forex market has some volatility where it shows the biggest movements. It usually happens during the certain hours of a day when the country is active and many events happen. Usually every country has the biggest influence on its currency, so knowing the schedule of each trading session may give you a sign which currencies it is better to trade.

London (European) session is the biggest Forex market and is more volatile than any other sessions. During the London session about 30% of daily trading volume is done on the Forex market. The average price change for all currency pairs during the London session is about 80 pips. For example, the daily range of currency pairs such as GBP/CHF and GBP/JPY is about 140 pips. In addition to these pairs, the most traded pairs in the Forex market at this time are considered to be USD/CHF, GBP/USD, USD/CAD and EUR/USD. Realizing of volatility for each traded currency pair helps you to set levels of take-profit orders more correctly.

It is a fact that after the London session is finished, many big investors prefer to transfer their investments from the European currencies to the US dollar. As at that time the New York (USA) session starts that is the second largest turnover in the Forex market. Knowing the time of different sessions and their features, can become the basis for the creation of the trading system. The New York session is open from 12.00 to 20.00 GMT. The greatest volatility during the day is seen in the period from 12.00 till 14.00 when both European and American sessions are running.

After the USA session is finished the Tokyo session starts, which lasts from 0.00 to 8.00 GMT. This session includes all Asia and such big financial centers as Singapore Forex trading and Hong Kong. The biggest attention during this time is paid to the currency pairs GBP/CHF and GBP/JPY at an average daily range of about 100 pips. Trading in Singapore is also based on AUD, SGD and NZD currencies. Taking into the consideration the specifications of different sessions you can build a trading technique that takes into account time zones when the appearance of a trend is most likely. Using the time factor of trading sessions and some good technical indicators is the clue to building a successful trading system.
